Matte C

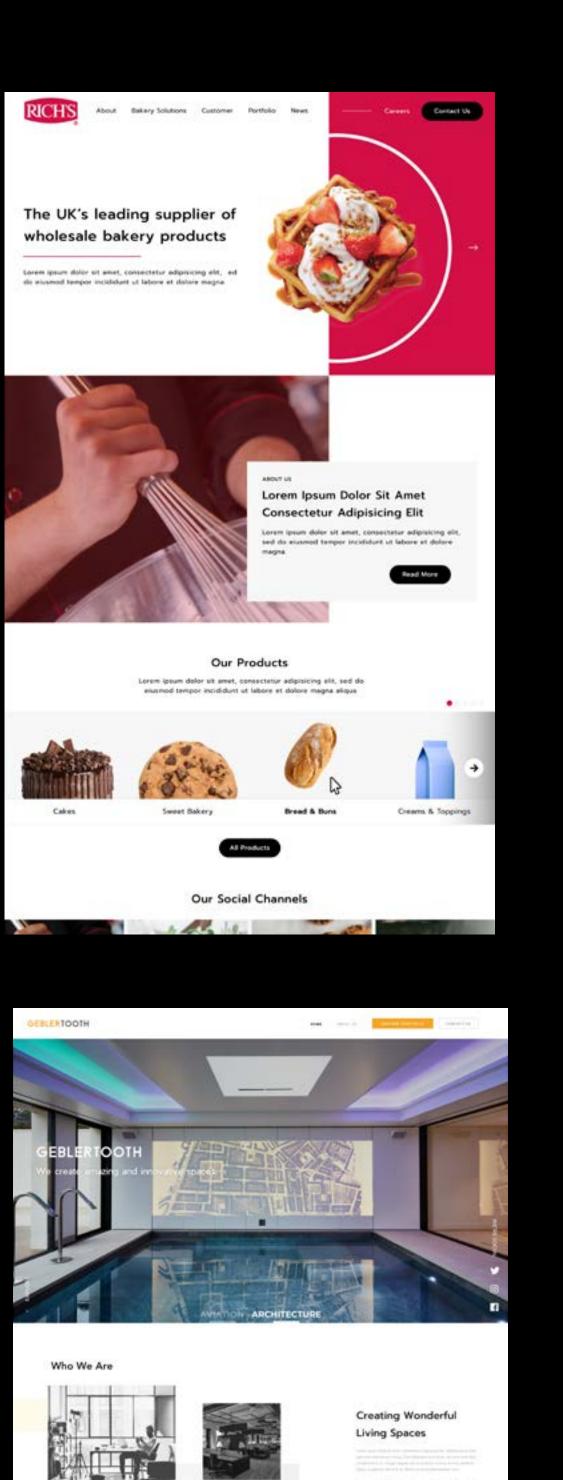

This is a mini-reel

What you're about to see is a very short portfolio, created just for the purpose of displaying many disciplines I've worked on.

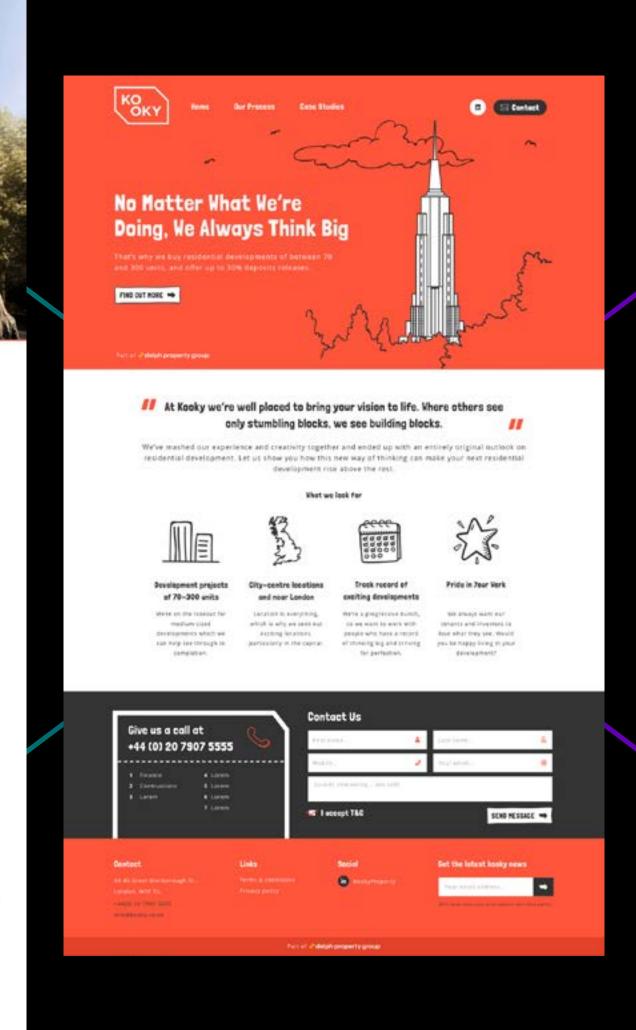

Website Website We bsite Website Websit e Website Website Website Website We bsite Website Websit e Website Website Website Website We

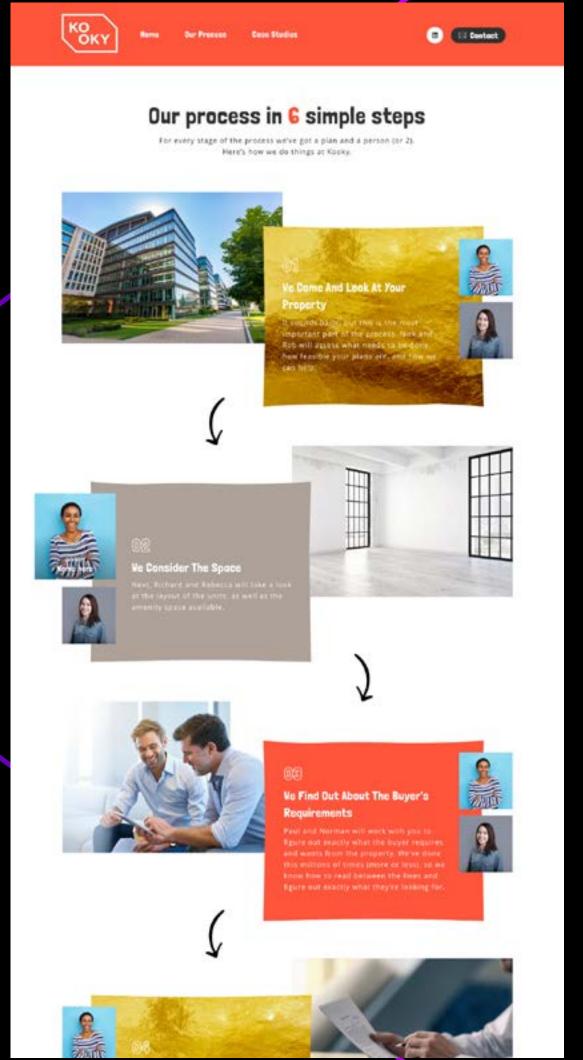

Websites

Contact We were offered the chance of buying the residential element of the Redhill regeneration scheme from Coplan, the Project Development Company, who had won a bid by the council to get planning permission for the complete scheme and then project manage it until The scheme had full planning permission. There was an existing contract out with a buyer but Copian felt the existing purchasers were not performing well. They asked us if we wanted to bid with large deposits being released prior to completion. We did so and the bid was accepted. HOT's were developed over a four week period and it was this deal that went into legals with a six month deadline to exchange. This was the second deal we have done with Copian and we are looking to building on the relationship. Getting the contract right The legals of the Redhill deal were complicated from the A conditional forward fued deal of a mixed use scheme with a golden brick is probably as complicated as it gets? considerable time as there was a tight legal framework. We usually carry out title due difigence first but this was negated as it was subject to CPOs that extinguished all title and rights of light issues. The final legal suite of documents ended up being an making it a nice heliday treat for everyone involved.

Read more at miele.design/kooky

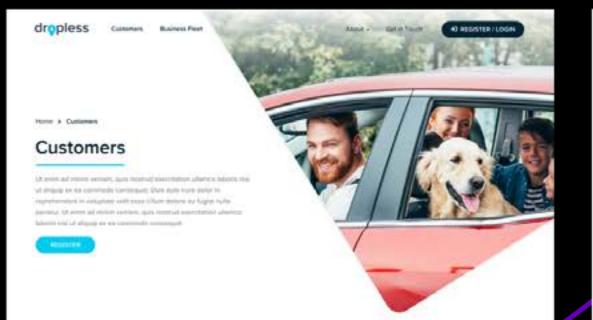

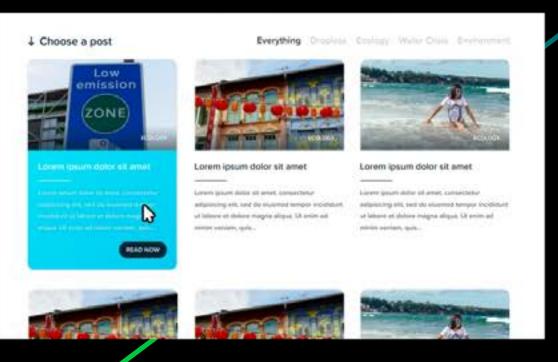

Read more at miele.design/dropless

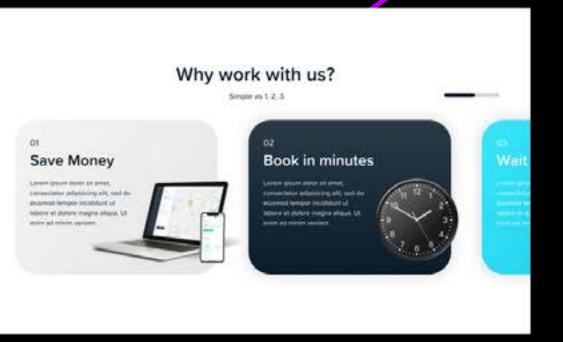

How much can you save?

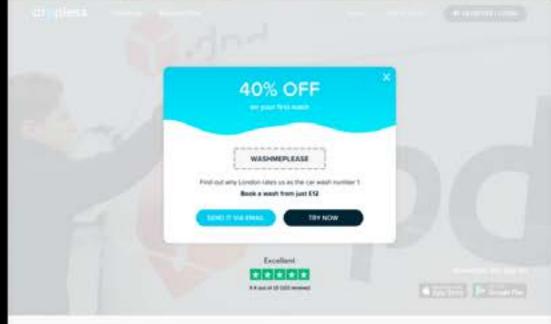

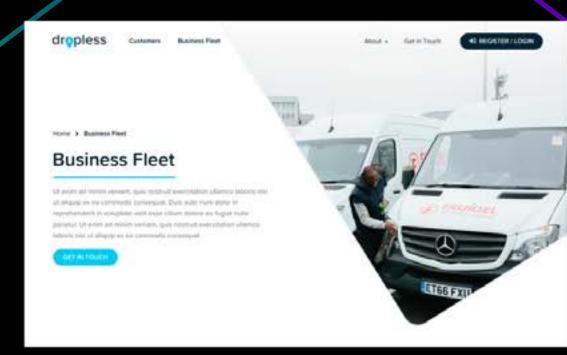

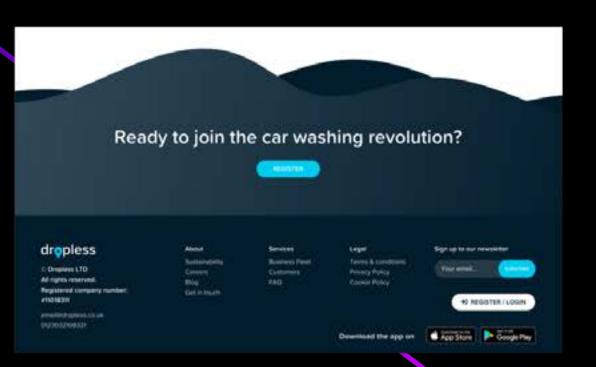

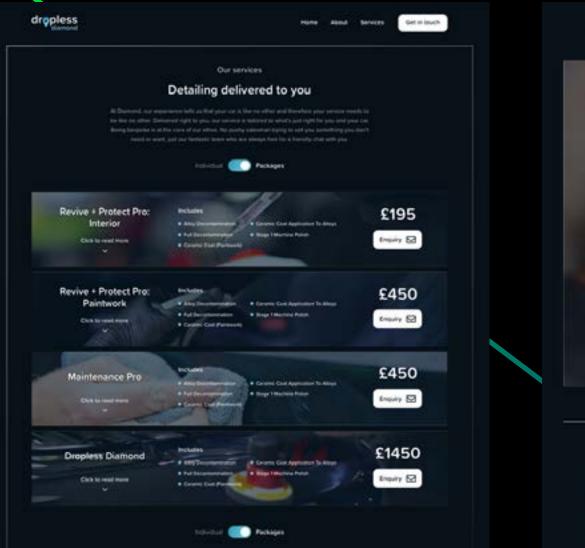

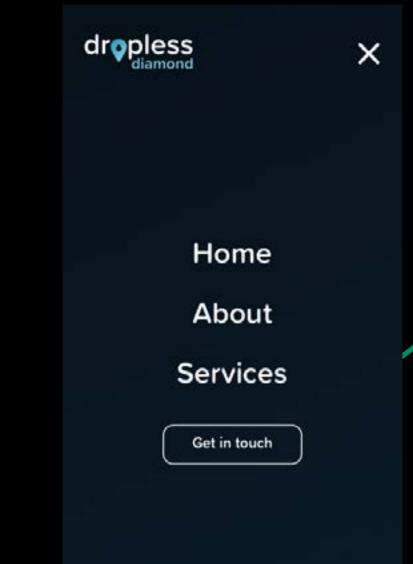

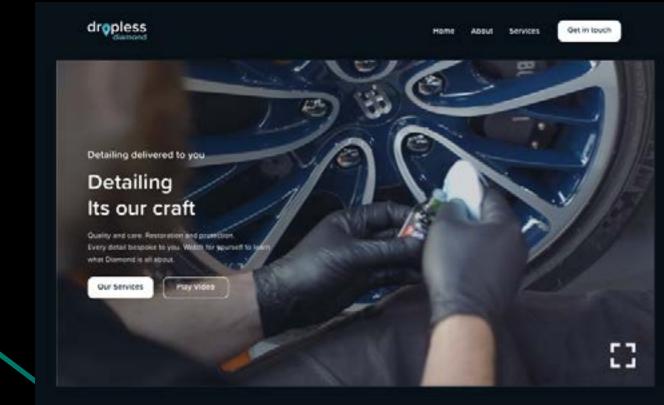

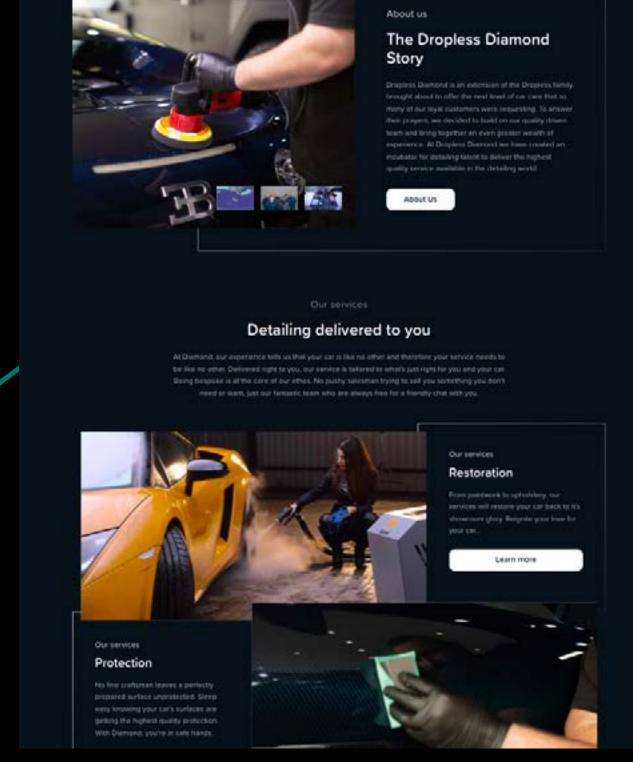

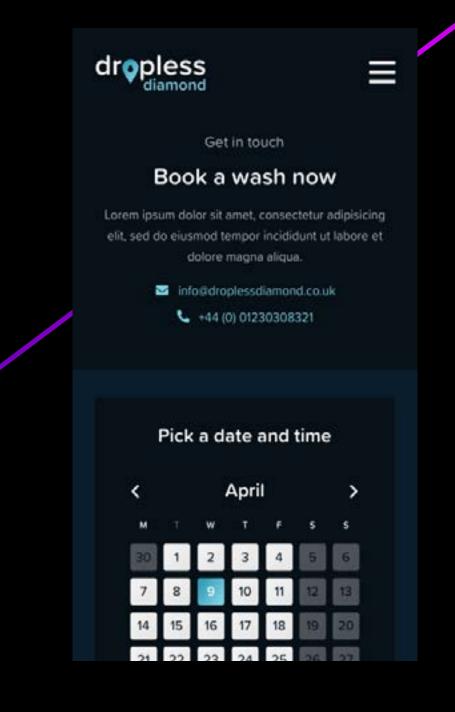

Websites

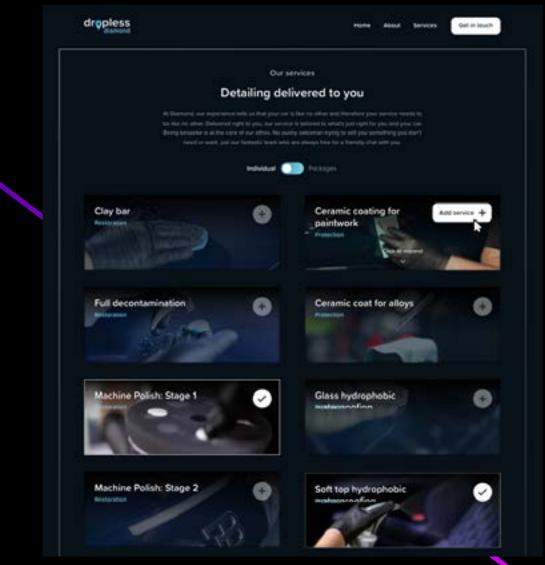

Websites

Jigsaw

BACK The History Of Silk JIGSAW The History Of Silk The world of fashion is certainly no stranger to a fantastical tale or two. The history of silk, which began in ancient China, is one such tale. However, in this epic story, everything you'll read - well, nearly everything - is completely true. GO TO TIMELINE BACK JIGSAW The History Of Silk Secret Silk Spreads to the Rest of the World 3000 SC For nearly 3,000 years, silk was China's best-kept secret. To produce the finest-quality silk, silkwarms must be fed a very specific diet and the moths must be prevented from hatching. China developed secret techniques for both that 33s-JULY 330 BC helped it create a manapoly on silk production. The silk produced in China was transported to the West via ancient trade routes known as the Silk Road, bringing vast riches to the country. Eventually, China's closely guarded silk production techniques started to seepout. In 200 BC, waves of Chinese immigrants arrived in Korea, bringing many C 204-222 of the empire's secrets with them, Initially, silk production spread slawly, with the East doing its best to keep the ancient techniques under wrops. In AD 300, silk production reached China's south-west border with India. By AD 440, it had spread to the western borders of China, aided by a Chinase princess who smuggled silkwarm eggs to her new laver (the prince of the Iranian kingdom of Khotan) in her valuminous hairpiece. appeared at the Byzantine emperor's court with silkwarm eggs hidden in their bamboo walking sticks, allowing the Middle East to develop ≥s awn silk business. From there, it was only a matter of time before the once clandestine NEXT silk production techniques reached Europe.

JIGSAW

BACK TO SITE

The History Of Silk

The History Of Silk

The world of fashion is certainly no stranger to a fantastical tale or two. The history of silk, which began in ancient China, is one such tale. However, in this epic story, everything you'll read – well, nearly everything – is completely true.

GO TO TIMELINE

SCROLL DOWN &

IGSAW

BACK TO SITE

The History Of Silk

Spread

Secret Silk Spreads to the Rest of the World

For nearly 3,000 years, silk was China's best-kept secret. To produce the finest-quality silk, silkworms must be fed a very specific diet and the moths must be prevented from hatching. China developed secret techniques for both that helped it create a managely on

Banners Banners Ban ners Banners Banner S Banners Banners Banners Banners Ban Banners Banners Banners Banners ners Banners Banners

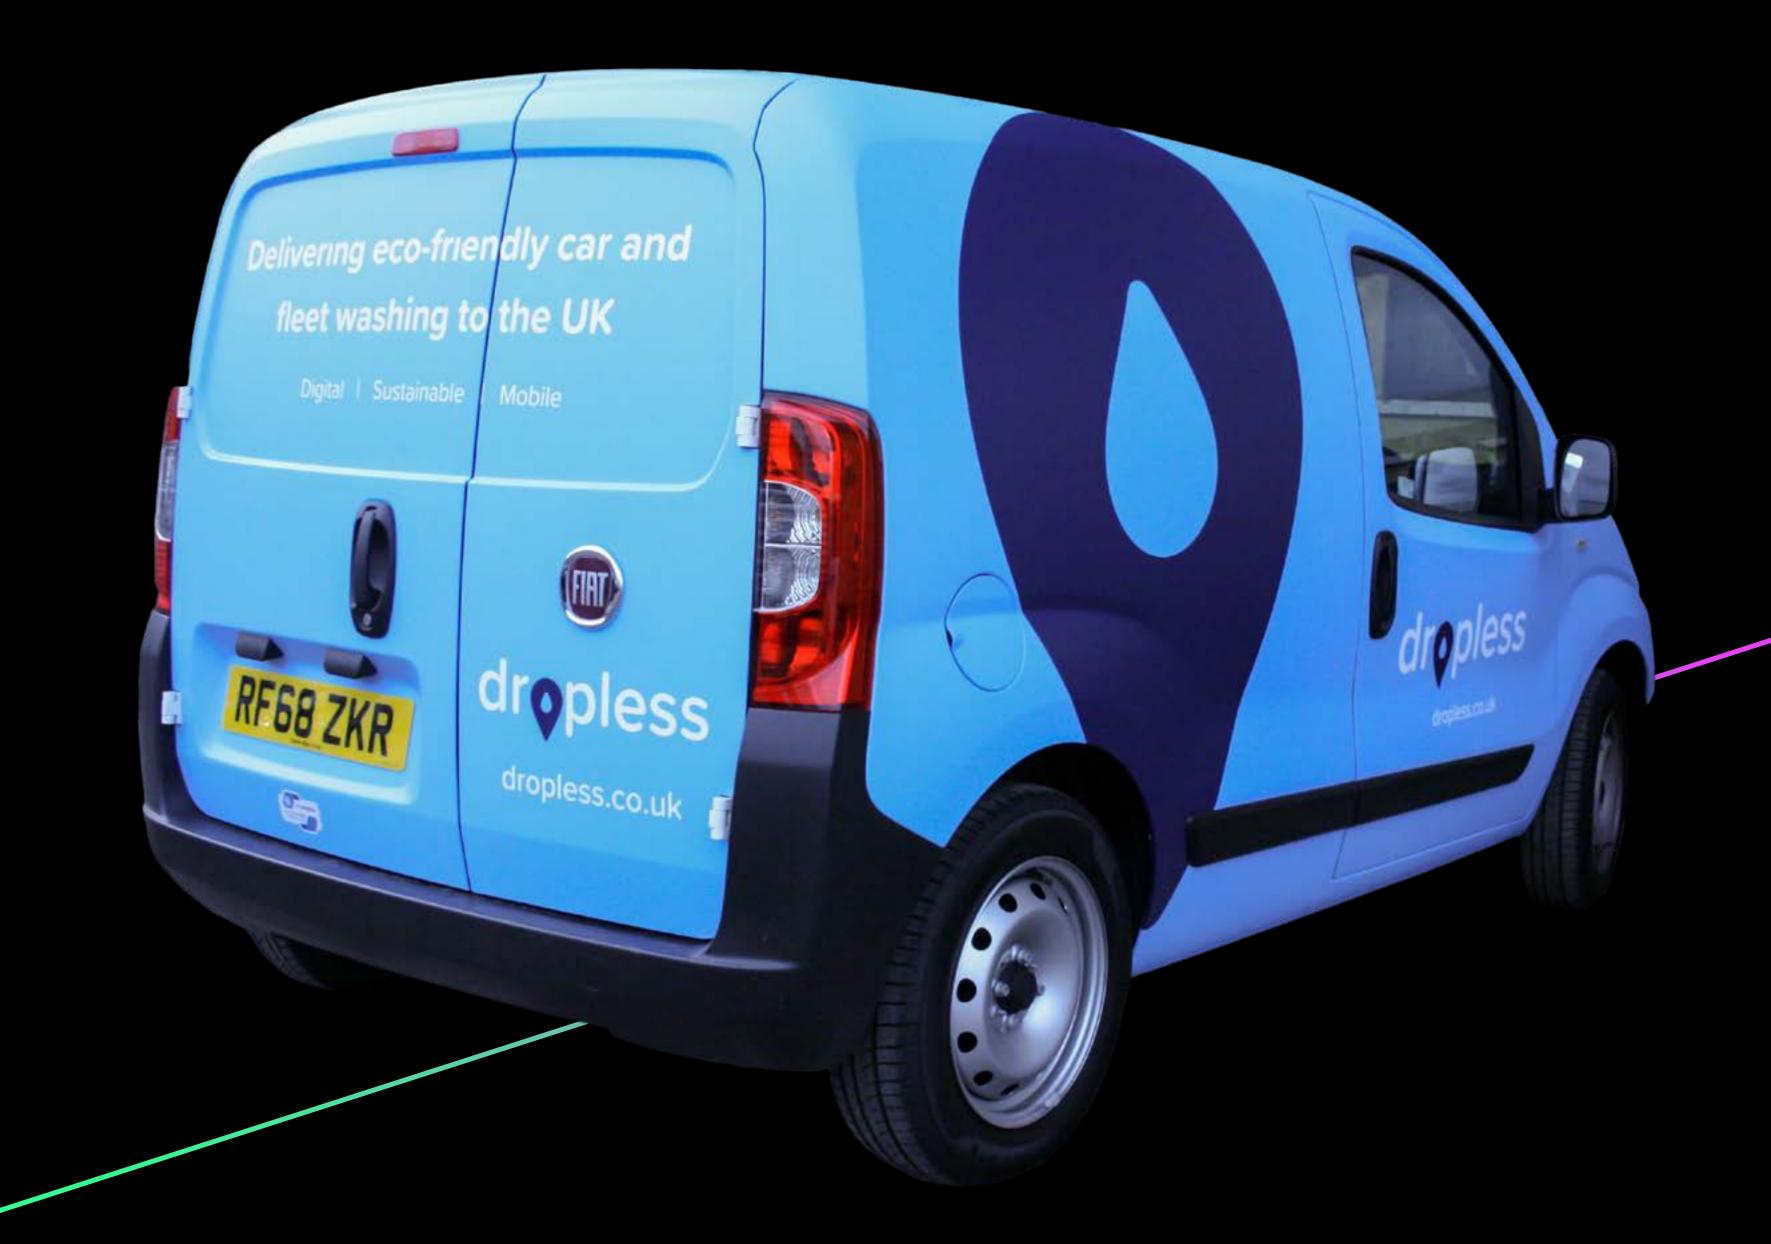

Van Wraping Design Van Wrap Design Van

Merchandise Merchand ise Merchandise Mer chandise Merchandise Merchandise Merchand e Merchandise Merc handise Merchandise Merchandise Merchandi

DIGITAL MARKETING GANGSTERS

#